

Melville Douglas STANLIB Bond Fund

Fund information update at 31 July 2026

What is the fund's objective?

The objective of the fund is to achieve capital preservation and income generation by investing in long-term fixed interest securities. This fund is an actively managed, unconstrained, South African fixed-income strategy that aims to generate consistent and predictable long term returns through investments in high quality income-yielding debt securities.

What does the fund invest in?

Securities will normally consist of a spread of gilts, semi-gilts, loan stock, debentures, debenture bonds, approved securities, notes and liquid assets and any other securities which are consistent with the fund's investment policy.

What possible risks are associated with this fund?

General market risks include a rise or volatility in bond yields, rising interest rates, economic and political risk, inflation uncertainty and duration risk. Where foreign securities are included in the portfolio there may be additional risks, such as potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macro-economic risks, political risks, tax risks, settlement risks, and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

Performance fee	N/A

Annual fee (manager) – this is a service charge (% based) applicable to each class of a fund, that is levied on the value of your portfolio and includes the Annual fee (adviser) fee (where applicable). Annual fees are calculated and accrued daily and recovered monthly from the income awaiting distribution in the fund.

Cost ratios (annual) including VAT as at 30 June 2026

	Class A
Based on period from:	01/07/2023
Total Expense	0.87%
Performance Fee	0.00%
Transaction Costs	0.00%
Total Investment Charge	0.87%
1 Year Total Expense	0.88%

Total Expense (TER): This ratio shows the charges, levies and fees relating to the management of the portfolio and is expressed as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio, calculated over the period shown and annualised to the most recently completed quarter. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER should not be regarded as an indication of future TERs.

Transaction Costs (TC): This ratio shows the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the fund's underlying assets. TC are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Total Investment Charges (TIC): This ratio is simply the sum of the TER and TC, showing the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the investment of the fund. It should be noted that performance figures account for all costs included in the TIC ratio, so you should not deduct the TIC from performance figures, the performance is already net of the TIC.

Fund review

Against the backdrop of a volatile quarter because of the heightened geopolitical risk environment, the fund performed in line with its benchmark for the quarter (7.9%) and ahead of its peers (7.6%). At the height of the elevated yield environment, we increased the duration of the fund. This strategy was beneficiary to the fund, when yields subsequently compressed, the fund participated in the rally.

Market overview

The second quarter of 2026 was marked by elevated global uncertainty as conflict in the Middle East pushed oil prices above $100/bbl., reigniting inflation concerns and prompting a more cautious stance from central banks. Conditions improved towards quarter-end following a de-escalation in tensions between Iran and the United States, resulting in oil prices falling below $75/bbl.

The SARB maintained its data-dependent approach during the quarter, balancing upside inflation risks against a still-fragile growth environment. Headline inflation accelerated from 3.1% at the end of March to 4.5% by end of May. This re-inflation was spurred by the recent and steep rise in fuel pump prices following the onset of the war in Iran. Consequently, in its May meeting the SARB in a 4:2 vote split, raised interest rates by 25 basis points to 7.0%. The central bank raised its concerns about second round inflation effects being entrenched and decoupling inflation from the long-term expectations of 3.0%. The May inflation print at 4.5%, though much higher than the 4.0% upper bound of the inflation tolerant level, still printed lower than market expectations (4.7%). The June inflation print may still print above 4.0%, however the recent decline in oil prices, followed by fuel pump price decreases, announced at the end of June, will assist in decelerating inflation going forward. We expect inflation to average 4.1% in 2026. Despite the challenging and volatile environment during the quarter, the domestic macro landscape remained resilient and constructive. This was lent support by positive terms of trade, positive outlook from credit ratings agencies, continuing freight and logistics reforms as well as improving fiscal outlook. This backdrop helped anchor the domestic currency and bond yields, despite everything that was thrown their way during the quarter. However, business confidence remained low, dampened further by rising inflation and higher interest rates, during the period.

South African government bonds generated positive returns (7.9%) during the quarter, with longer-dated bonds outperforming (10.4%) as yields declined across much of the curve. Real yields remained elevated by historical standards, continuing to attract investors seeking income and diversification benefits. During the quarter, we maintained a constructive view on duration and continued to favour high-quality government bonds where real yields remained attractive. Portfolio positioning reflected our view that South African bonds continue to offer considerable value relative to both domestic cash alternatives and global fixed income markets.

Looking ahead

The outlook for domestic bonds remains supported by elevated real yields, attractive carry, and improving macroeconomic fundamentals.

Key drivers will be a) the trajectory of inflation, b) the pace of global monetary policy easing and c) the progress on fiscal consolidation and economic reforms.

While volatility may persist, we remain constructive on the medium-term prospects for South African fixed income and believe the asset class remains well positioned to deliver attractive risk-adjusted returns. South African fixed income enters the second half of 2026 from a position of strength, with attractive yields, improving investor sentiment, and supportive long-term valuation metrics continuing to underpin return prospects.

All performance returns and ranking figures quoted are shown in ZAR and are based on data sourced from Morningstar or Statpro and are as at 31 July 2026.

Annualised return figures are the compound annualised growth rate (CAGR) calculated from the cumulative return for the period being measured. These annualised returns provide an indication of the annual return achieved over the period had an investment been held for the entire period. Actual annual figures are available on request from the Manager.

Portfolio performance figures are calculated for the relevant class of the portfolio, for a lump sum investment, on a NAV-NAV basis, with income reinvested on the ex-dividend date. Individual investor performance may differ due to initial fees, actual investment date, date of reinvestment of income and dividend withholding tax. Portfolio performance accounts for all costs that contribute to the calculation of the cost ratios quoted, all returns quoted are after these costs have been accounted for.

Statistics - Positive Months: the number of individual 1 month periods during the specified time period where the return was not negative; Max Gain: the maximum gain in a trough-to-peak incline before a new trough is attained, quoted as the percentage between the trough and the peak. It is an indicator of upside risk over a specified time period (quoted for all periods of 1 year or longer); Max Drawdown: the maximum loss in a peak-to-trough decline before a new peak is attained, quoted as the percentage between the peak and the trough. It is an indicator of downside risk over a specified time period (quoted for periods of 1 year or longer, where no value is shown no loss was experienced); Highest and Lowest: the highest and the lowest 1 year return (%) that occurred during the specified time period (quoted for all relevant classes launched 1 year or more prior to current month end date).
